

Dear Colleague,

As part of our work on child poverty, we are collecting evidence on the impact of health and early years provision, housing and benefits on the outcomes of children aged 0–5 in low income families.

We would like to hear from you if you can tell us about or signpost us to information on programmes or services that have been implemented in England since 2007 which focus on improving health, early years provision, housing or welfare benefits. We are interested in evidence about targeted, universal, national and local services.

We are particularly interested in looking at evaluations of services, especially where they include the views of children and their families.

We have commissioned a team from the University of East London to help us with this work. They are: Ivana La Valle, Visiting Scholar and Project Manager; Dr Eva Lloyd, Reader in Early Childhood; and Lisa Payne, Child Policy Consultant.

If you have any information you think would help with this work please email it to Sylvia.potter@virgin.net by Friday 14 March at 9am.

I would like to thank you in advance for your help and support. This work will make a vital contribution in promoting and protecting children's rights.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Maggie Atkinson
